Aluminum looks like wood

The right choice! Aluminum decking aced all tests by 'Consumer Reports' latest product comparison featuring decking products. The only drawback they cited was that it could not look like wood.

Aluminum that LOOKS LIKE WOOD is now available only by Last-Deck®. Enjoy the rich look of real wood! Last-Deck®'s innovative WoodGrain™ aluminum decking and aluminum railing systems mix and match components to create custom looks in 7 wood grains, plus 9 standard colors. Fireproof, beautiful, elegant, and maintenance free too!

Last-Deck, Inc., as always, is on the cutting-edge keeping step with state-of-the-art processes and the most durable finishes available. True wood grain looks are achieved through a patented process developed in Italy. Direct from the birthplace of the most durable finishes on the market, this European process is not a surface film, but a powder coating with the wood grain design incorporated through and through.

Last-Deck, Inc. is a responsible corporation answering the call of the consumer by keeping on top of new technology, listening to their needs, filling a demand, and providing an even more valuable product by giving the consumer back their valuable time with a truly maintenance free wood grain deck.

All of this and the most color choices available anywhere, 9 standard colors and 7 rich wood grains! Last-Deck® has the most handsome profile of any aluminum decking ever produced, making it look like decking, not a metal roof! Made from strong aircraft quality aluminum, it is everything you could ever want in decking material.

Yes, it is the Last-Deck® you will ever have to buy. Last-Deck®.
